As the industry continues to grow, benefits remain key to attracting and keeping top talent. Many traditional insurance providers still hesitate to work with cannabis businesses, making affordable coverage hard to find. About
BUD-E-BENEFITS

Employee benefits are crucial for the cannabis industry. However, due to the complexities of federal and state regulations, many insurance providers are hesitant to offer cannabis business owners affordable health and medical benefits options for their employees. Through partnerships with leading underwriters and insurtech firms, BUD-E-BENEFITS delivers affordable, everyday healthcare that keeps employees healthy, supported, and connected to care they can actually use.

Planning for the Future

Evaluating and adjusting your benefits strategy each year can have a significant impact on your company's bottom line while improving employee morale and retention. Use these best practices to refine your approach and set your team up for success in the upcoming benefits term.

Best Practices for Smarter Benefits Planning

Understand Benefit Implementation Strategies

Reduce or eliminate tax liability through a detailed evaluation of your current benefit options and contribution structures.

Maximize Employee Participation

Encouraging higher participation in your benefits program not only boosts employee satisfaction but also helps extend tenure and improve overall efficiency.

Calculate the Cost of Turnover

High turnover can be expensive. Companies offering comprehensive benefits see employees stay longer. Workers enrolled in benefits remain up to 47% longer, translating into measurable revenue gains.

Adopt Industry-Specific Technology

Use advanced tools and data-driven systems to streamline administration, improve efficiency, and enhance retention rates across your workforce.

Cybersecurity

Our mobile app was built using React Native and is hosted on Amazon web server. We use end-to-end encryption and our system is continuously being monitored to ensure your personal data is safe and private.

HR

Employees can view medical information in real time, schedule appointments, find prescription discounts, and access their digital ID card through the mobile app. It gives employees convenient, on the go access to what they need, which is ideal for the fast moving cannabis industry.
